CHINA AIDS FUND
CELEBRATION GALA DINNER
15TH YEAR ANNIVERSARY
October 23, 2018, Tuesday
Congratulations
China AIDs Fund on its 15th Anniversary and 2018 Gala

CAIPA is proud to support and sponsor CAF for its good work in promoting a healthier world!

CAIPA (Coalition of Asian-American IPA) is the first and largest independent physician association in North America with over 1,000 private practice providers, covering over 50 specialties. Our provider network currently provides medical services and care to about half-a-million patient population in the Asian community. At CAIPA, our mission has always been to unite the top health professionals to providing high quality care, utilizing the most cost-effective approach.
Who Are We

Our Missions
To improve the life of medically, economically and socially deprived children in China and to cultivate heritage and leadership among youths of Chinese decent in the United States.

Our Execution
Founded in 2003 by a group of Chinese Americans and other Americans in New York City:
H.E. Ambassador Eric Hotung
Mrs. Mona So
Larance Hockert, Esq.
Mr. Charles P. Wang

Led by voluntary Chinese Americans in the business and medical communities who care deeply about the mission and are committed to its goals and mission.
China AIDS Fund engages in the resources of the Chinese American community and friends and family in its effort to fulfill its mission.
Registered with the IRS as a 501 (c) (3) non-profit charitable organization

Our Opportunities
The Founders, Officers, Board Directors and Advisors have the hope and vision that this unprecedented and catastrophic condition in China can be drastically lessened and the current victims involving innocent children and mothers can be helped and their lives improved. China’s political climate has changed, and now is the time to act.
China AIDS Fund will continue to harness the strength and resources of the Chinese American community and the public at large to accomplish its goals.

Our Values
Ties to Greater China: The Diaspora of Chinese are motivated by our love and concern for the Chinese throughout the world including those in our motherland.

Compassion: We have compassion for our Asian brothers and sisters globally and at home who are suffering and in need of assistance.

Knowledge and Experience: Many lessons have been learned in fighting this disease in the United States among the medical community and the public at large. These lessons can be and should be applied in fighting this disease around the globe.

Our Vision
Work closely through existing organizations that have a proven record of service and delivery.

Public Education
- HIV/AIDS is not just a problem of the homosexuals
- HIV/AIDS is treatable and is not something to be ashamed of
- One may have HIV/AIDS but not detected for a long period of time
- HIV/AIDS will not spread to others through daily casual contact
- Do not share needles at any costs - Do practice safe sex
- Do take the test and seek appropriate lifesaving treatments
- Provide different forums for the enhancements and development of our youths.
Welcome Message from

Honorary Chairwoman Mona So and Honorary Chairman Charles Wang

Dear dignitaries, honorees, colleagues, friends and families,

On the behalf of China AIDS Fund officers, advisors and directors of the board, we welcome you with great gratitude in joining us tonight in our 15th China AIDS Fund Gala Dinner at the Pier 61, New York on October 23, 2018 to continue this important humanitarian work. For the newcomers, we hope this will be an evening of enlightenment for you. HIV/AIDS is a global health problem that is indiscriminate and sees no boundaries among nations, ethnicities, gender, sexual orientation, age limits or social ladders. While it is an equal opportunist, it preys on the poor and vulnerable among us. In 2003, the founders of China AIDS Fund had the foresight and vision to recognize the urgent needs to bring light to the potential threat of a HIV/AIDS epidemic in China that could have been the largest known in world history. Contrary to the prediction of the World Health Organization, the fear of this epidemic has not taken place. We believe that the work of China AIDS Fund has made a small dent among the collective work from thousands of humanitarian organizations in China, the United States, and Europe in combating this global health issue.

Tonight, we celebrate our work in progress and would also give honor to the following distinguished individuals who have made significant impact in our community and the world at large.

Dear CHINA AIDS FUND Members and distinguished guests:

On behalf of the Board of Directors and Advisors of the China AIDS Fund we would like to extend a warm welcome to all of our honorees, dignitaries, families, friends, colleagues and guests to our 15th year anniversary gala on October 23, 2018.

This night represents a celebration of the overwhelming success of the many China AIDS FUND projects, since its birth in 2003.

Firstly, the Henan HIV Children Project which commenced in the winter of 2008. This project has helped hundreds of HIV affected children and their families devastated by the ravages of HIV and AIDS in Henan province, caused by non-regulated and unhygienic commercial blood donation practices during the 1990’s. We have successfully opened two China AIDS Fund Henan Children Centers in 2008/2009 and summer of 2010, both equipped with a dedicated staff, a library, four computer stations with broadband access, indoor activity room and outdoor activity areas providing a warm and interactive environment promoting socialization and a sense of community with monthly activities and programs. Secondary School subsides and College scholarship have allowed these children opportunities to further their education beyond junior high school and many into college. The Nutrition Support Program provided a monitoring of these children’s body weight to ensure necessary nutritional supplements were provided.

Secondly, China Aids Fund has also supported financially seven different libraries located in Shangcai, Shenqui, Zhuhe, Yonghe, Wongguqiao, Shenzhen and Sanpo areas of China, between 2013 to the present.

Thirdly, our China Aids Fund’s Junior Board International Pen Pal Program which was created to promote cross-cultural awareness and bridging a friendship with these HIV affected children and through many programs and fund raiser events. This program also raised public awareness of the dangers of HIV and AIDS related infections in the United States and was definitely the shining star of our past program that many children from both countries benefited tremendously from.

Our “LiangShan Project” under the guidance and direction of Dr. Wensong Li, our incoming president, has been a great success since it’s launched four years ago. As we discovered in recent years, the majority of reported HIV infections in China are among the rural people living in the southwest and among ethnic minorities. Liangshan is the largest traditional settlement of minority people, isolated within an extremely impoverished area and located in one of the major drug trafficking routes of heroin production and distribution, perpetuating the influx of drug use and resulting in an HIV/AIDS epidemic. Present day, Liangshan is one of the hardest-hit HIV infected areas in China.

China AIDS Fund’s mission is to provide scholarship funding to allow these children an opportunity and a promise of primary and secondary schooling with the possibility of higher education. Through the generous donations of many board members and friends in the community under the “Liangshan Project: Sponsor a Student”, China AIDS Fund started by providing tuition to 29 children whom were funded for the academic year of 2015/2016, to today’s sponsoring over 150 middle to high school students year round! Since 2015, every summer, led by Dr. Li and myself, a group of U.S. families—parents brought their children to travel to these remote areas of Liangshan to visit the students that we sponsor, which established a strong bond that benefitted both the children of Liangshan and our own children from the US. Together, we are “Empowering Youth for a Brighter Future”! We are also striving to establish a base at Zhaojue County National Middle School in Zhaojue County to build multiple relief centers and mobile rescue service centers to provide food, clothing and necessities for orphans and children of need to insure survival, healthy development, and growth.

Lastly, our “Asian American Youth Program” (AAYP) has provided a platform for our youths to voice their struggles and conflicts growing up in America as an “Asian American”. Asian American adolescents growing up in American face unique challenges in balancing the demands and expectations of the Asian culture at home while dealing with the stereotypes at school and the world at large which often lead to undue stress, anxiety, low self-esteem low confidence, self isolation and ambivalence. We are please to let you know that under the leadership of Ms. Yen S. Chou, Chairwoman of the program, we have successfully held a twice a year Asian Youth Ambassadors Scholarship Essay Contest on several different topics and we will announce the six new Scholarship winners at tonight’s gala. Each winner will receive a one thousand dollar scholarship towards his or her college studies.

We extend our deepest gratitude and thanks to all our board members and officers, our friends, family and all those who have contributed both financially and with their dedicated hard work and commitment to the China Aids Fund. By attending this gala tonight and with your support, each and every one of you is affirming the accomplishments and continued objectives and goals of the China AIDS Fund, namely, to make a difference in a child’s life, one at a time, here at home and globally.

Together, we are “Empowering Youth for a Brighter Future”!

Thank you. Have a wonderful evening!

BI-ANNUAL CELEBRATION GALA DINNER

OCTOBER 23, 2018

ELAINE L. CHAO
Dear Friends:

Please accept my warmest greetings as the China AIDs Fund, Inc. gathers to celebrate its 2018 Gala and Award Ceremony. It is an honor to acknowledge the exemplary work of the China AIDs Fund and tonight’s distinguished honorees.

Since its inception, the China AIDs Fund has worked tirelessly to improve the welfare of the Chinese community, locally and abroad. This is especially seen through the efforts from projects such as the Liang Shan Project, which provides aid to children and orphans in rural areas and helps the local community expand its potential. Additionally, the Asian American Youth Program and CAF Henan Children centers inspires young leaders who wish to express themselves and offers a platform to generate dialogues about Asian American issues. I applaud the China AIDs fund for supporting the New York community, and for remaining true to its mission of advocating for patient rights.

Tonight’s honorees—Patricia Wang, President & CEO of Health First, recipient of the Distinguish Achievement Award; George Liu, M.D. PhD, President and CEO of CAIPA, recipient of the Lifetime Achievement Award; Amy Mak Chan, founder of the Celestial Love Foundation, recipient of the Excellence in Philanthropy Award; Tai Ling Wang, President of WAC Lighting, recipient of the Community Trailblazer Award—are people of excellent character, and I am humbled in recognizing their compassion and generosity. Their commitment to the Asian American community and charitable work is immeasurable.

Once again, I congratulate and thank the China AIDs Fund for their hard work and commitment to serving the residents of New York. I hope the China AIDs Fund, Inc. continues to serve their community for years to come through their innovative initiatives. Best wishes for a wonderful evening!

Sincerely,

Charles E. Schumer
United States Senator

Dear Friends,

I am pleased to extend my warmest greetings to all gathered at China AIDS Fund’s 15th Anniversary Gala Dinner.

Since its founding in 2003, the China AIDS Fund has been dedicated to fighting the spread of HIV/AIDS in China by increasing the awareness and support of the Chinese-American community. Each year, China AIDS Fund enhances the resources of the Chinese community residing in the United States to assist China, in its effort to prevent the spread of AIDS and provide technical assistance to Chinese organizations composing solutions to the AIDS outbreak. In addition to many wonderful services, this charitable organization presents awards to those who have been actively working on ensuring the best for those affected by AIDS in China.

I am honored to join with the China AIDS Fund in recognizing the many outstanding achievements of this fine organization and the contributions of this year’s distinguished honorees: Patricia Wang President & CEO of Health First; George Liu, M.D. PhD. President & CEO of CAIPA; Amy Mak Chan, Founder of Celestial Love Foundation and Tai Ling Wang, President of WAC Lighting. With the steadfast support of these individuals and many more, I have no doubt that the China AIDS Fund, Inc. will continue its good works for many years to come.

Please accept my best wishes for a wonderful celebration and much continued success!

Sincerely,

Grace Meng
Member of Congress

Dear Friends:

It is a pleasure to send greetings to everyone gathered for the 2018 Gala and Award Ceremony of the China AIDS Fund.

This occasion brings together many who are dedicated to the fight against HIV/AIDS affecting men, women, and children in the Chinese community. For the past fifteen years, the Fund has supported this important cause through local, national, and global efforts to increase education, prevention, testing, and early treatment.

We all remain hopeful and optimistic that continued research and medical advances will bring an end to the HIV/AIDS epidemic in our lifetimes. Tonight, you can take pride in the progress you have made in addressing this health crisis, and I join in applauding leaders in your community for their tireless commitment to this critical cause.

Warmest regards and best wishes for a successful event.

Sincerely,

ANDREW M. CUOMO

Dear Friends:

I am delighted to congratulate the China AIDS Fund (CAF) as you celebrate fifteen years of service.

The China AIDS Fund (CAF) has successfully compiled resources for the Chinese American community and funded organizations that prevent the spread of AIDS in China. The LiangShan Project is an important program that offers comfort to children who have lost their parents to AIDS. The Asian American Youth Program (AAYP), bridges the gap for Asian American youth, allowing them to share their experiences between two cultures and teaches them to become leaders. By providing books, computers, and programs at our local libraries, your Sunrise Library program helps educate our young people.

I would like to congratulate your honorees: Patricia Wang, President and CEO of Health First, George Liu, M.D, PhD, President and CEO of CAIPA, Amy Mak Chan, Founder of Celestial Love Foundation, and Tai Ling Wang, President of WAC Lighting. These individuals exemplify the values of China AIDS Fund.

Thank you for raising funds to combat the HIV/AIDS crisis and educating young people. I wish you every measure of success as you continue your good work now and in the years to come.

With all good wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Friends:

It is a great pleasure to join the China AIDs Fund in welcoming everyone to its 2018 Gala and Award Ceremony.

New Yorkers are united in our shared sense of responsibility not only to lift up those around us, but also to do all that we can to extend a helping hand to those in need around the world. Since its founding in 2003, the China AIDs Fund has worked to improve quality of life for Chinese New Yorkers and people throughout China by offering college scholarships, establishing children’s centers and libraries, providing educational support for children effected by HIV, and more. As you gather in support of this organization’s important mission, I am proud to applaud all those associated with the China AIDs Fund for their commitment to fostering positive change in our city and beyond.

On behalf of all New Yorkers, congratulations to this year’s honorees. I offer my best wishes for a wonderful event and continued success.

Sincerely,

Bill de Blasio
Mayor

Dear Friends:

I would like to extend my best wishes to the China AIDs Fund, Inc. on the occasion of its Gala and Award Ceremony at Pier Sixty-One, Chelsea Piers.

Established in 2003, China AIDs Fund has achieved great success in several programs and activities, including the LiangShan Project, the Asian American Youth Program, library funding, and CAF Henan Children Centers. Its efforts to raise awareness about the impact of AIDS has seen real results across its constituencies. Such achievements are hard-fought, and I share your commitment to advocacy, activism and coalition-building.

A special congratulations to tonight’s honorees: Patricia Wang, President and CEO of Health First on receiving the Distinguish Achievement Award; George Liu, M.D., PhD., President and CEO of CAIPA on receiving the Lifetime Achievement Award; Amy Mak Chan, Founder of Celestial Love Foundation on receiving the Excellence in Philanthropy Award, and Tai Ling Wang, President of WAC Lighting on receiving the Community Trailblazer Award. Each of you are truly deserving of this recognition.

On behalf of the New York City Council, I commend the officers, staff, and members of the China AIDs Fund, Inc. for your tireless work in promoting the health and well being of our community. Thank you for your tremendous contributions to the City of New York. Please accept my best wishes for continued success.

Sincerely,

To our friends at the China AIDS Fund,

I am honored to extend my congratulations to the China AIDS Fund on the occasion of its 15th Anniversary Gala and Award Ceremony. As we gather today to celebrate, I would also like to thank the guests and donors who help sustain and expand invaluable programs such as the Asian American Youth Program (AAYP).

Since its inception in 2003, the China AIDS Fund has made social, economic, and medical progress in the Chinese-American community its main priority. Through their work, the China AIDS Fund has been key in providing impoverished children the resources necessary to thrive and focus on their education. The services they provide range from promoting public education, health literacy about HIV/AIDS, and increasing accessibility to libraries for children. The China AIDS Fund fosters healthier and livelier communities, which demonstrates the extraordinary commitment to their cause. Their contribution and collaborative efforts of Chinese American businesses, medical professionals, and educational fields are reflective of the efforts to continue to build our community and opportunities like the Asian American Youth Program, which molds our youth into the future leaders we need.

I commend the China AIDS Fund for their continued support of programs that strengthen and educate local communities, and wish the organization much success in their future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Dr. George Liu currently serves as the President, CEO and CMO of the Chinese American IPA, Inc. d/b/a Coalition of Asian-American IPA (CAIPA) and as Chairman of the Asian American Accountable Care Organization (AAACO) Boards. As an Internist and Endocrinologist, Dr. Liu has been continuously providing quality care to his patients and contributing to the well-being of the Asian American communities he has been serving since 1985. In addition to his private practices, he has been an Attending Physician at various hospitals, such as NewYork Presbyterian-Lower Manhattan Hospital, Gouverneur Skilled Nursing Facility, Mount Sinai Beth Israel and NYU Langone Medical Center.

Dr. Liu graduated with a PhD from the University of Notre Dame in 1972. He received his medical degree in 1978 from Cornell University Medical College and completed his internship and residency in 1981 at NYU Medical Center – Manhattan Veteran Administration Hospital. After his residency, Dr. Liu completed his fellowship in Endocrinology in 1983 at Stanford University Medical Center. He was board certified in 1983 in Internal Medicine.

Dr. Liu has received numerous distinctions and honors. Most recently he was recognized in the 2015 Top Doctors: New York Metro Area list by Castle Connolly. Over the years, he has had various research articles published in collaboration with other distinguished physicians.

In 1994, Dr. Liu founded the Chinese Physician Partnership which was restructured in 1998, as the Chinese American Independent Practice Association (CAIPA) upon NYSDOH approval. Today, CAIPA has become the largest Asian IPA in NY, with over 1000 providers serving over 500,000 patients. In 2012, CAIPA founded two Accountable Care Organizations. AAACO is a Medicare Shared Savings Program and CAIPA Care is the only physician-led, State approved Medicaid-ACO. In 2011, Dr. Liu established the Asian Diabetes Center to improve diabetic care. He is also on the Board of the CAIPA Foundation, Inc., a not-for-profit organization, which is funded by donations from our physicians-members.

Dr. Liu has committed his life to medicine and community service for more than 30 plus years. Both caring for individual patients that have visited him, as well as well as population health concerns in the Asian American community. His latest project – Diabetes Mellitus Expo - is an excellent example. Dr. Liu was instrumental with acquiring support and data from key institutions and partners to address the exponential cases of diabetes and pre-diabetic diagnosis in the Asian American communities. Under Dr. Liu’s leadership, public events and forums were organized and provided screenings and patient education, including awareness and lifestyle modifications in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens.
Patricia Wang is President and CEO of Healthfirst, a not-for-profit health insurance company that covers more than 1.3 million New Yorkers. Healthfirst proudly supports the mission of CHCANYS as the voice of community health centers and as a leading provider of primary health care in New York State.

Since Ms. Wang joined Healthfirst in 2008, the company’s revenues have grown fivefold (to approx. $10 billion), membership has more than tripled, and its plans have consistently ranked among the highest quality in the State and country. Ms. Wang serves as a Commissioner on the Medicare Payment Advisory Commission (MedPAC), which advises the U.S. Congress on Medicare payment policy, on the Board of Directors of America’s Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), and as a trustee of the Citizens Budget Commission. Ms. Wang is a graduate of Princeton University and New York University School of Law, where she received her J.D. degree, cum laude.

Ms. Wang is honored to be recognized by the China Aids Fund organization.
Mrs. Amy Mak Chan immigrated to the U. S. from Hong Kong in the mid-1980’s. In 1985, she became involved in the funeral services industry serving the Chinese community. With her strong gumption and extraordinary grace, she has wholeheartedly led to her staff in providing full-scale funeral services for the deceased and their families. Being a perfectionist, Mrs. Chan has committed herself to her clients which have led to building a stellar reputation. She is currently the President of Fook Funeral Group, with four locations in metropolitan New York area.

On November 1997, Mrs. Chan founded the Celestial Love Foundation, Inc. whose fundamental principle is to enable certain members of the community to walk the final journey of their life with dignity. She organized a group of philanthropists in the Chinese community, who include professional and community leaders, who wanted to fulfill their deeds through charity. Since its inception, the Celestial Love Foundation, Inc. has been supported by financial contributions from the philanthropists. The foundation follows good business practices and abides by its By-Law to determine if a grant would be made, the manner in which would be distributed, and the level of support. The foundation makes certain that every dime of the funds raised are used to assist those most in need.

Mrs. Chan has always been enthusiastic about charity and community affairs. In February 2006, she was presented the ‘Community Service Award’ by Director Ronald Langston and Associate Director Chiling Tong of the Minority Business Development Agency, U. S. Department of Commerce. Mrs. Chan also received the ‘Community Service Award’ from Gouverneur Hospital; Transfiguration Church; Hamilton Madison House and Chinese American Planning Council. Further, Metropolitan Jewish Hospice presented Mrs. Chan the 2010 Community Leadership Award for her dedication, effort and commitment to preserve the quality of life in our community.

In 2015, as part of her endeavors in caring for the senior citizens in the community, Mrs. Chan started to serve on the Chinese Advisory Council of Selfhelp Community Service. As a prestigious singer and producer, Mrs. Chan also regularly offers benefit concerts to entertain the seniors from both Chinatown and Flushing communities. On June 15th, 2016, Mrs. Chan was honored by Flushing Council on Culture and the Arts at the historic Flushing Town Hall for her dedication to the betterment of the community. On July 20th, 2017, Celestial Love Foundation was honored by New York-Presbyterian Lower Manhattan Hospital for its dedication to the service of the community.
More than 30 years ago, Tai and her husband Tony Wang came to the US chasing their dreams, with their one-year-old daughter Shelley, in-tow. With little money, they purchased a grocery retailer in Queens, NY and in 1984 established WAC Lighting, which has evolved into a global company with a vertically integrated design, engineering and production operation while upholding their commitment to excellence and reinvestment.

An accountant by trade, Tai serves as VP of Finance and Co-Founder of WAC Lighting. She supports important causes such as Gift of Life, Alliance for Smiles, and the American Red Cross. In her dedication to education, Tai sponsors not-for-profit organizations, education institutions and science fair to offer children opportunity for higher education to fulfill their dream in life.

Tai is a very active member in the community, serving in numerous civic, community and non-profit organizations. She has received numerous awards for services to the community in general and particularly to the Asian community. These accolades include being honored by Ellis Island Medal of Honor as Distinguished Civic Leadership Award, being awarded the President's Volunteer Service and Leadership Awards from International Leadership Foundation, Humanitarian Service Award and Sponsor Recognition Award from the Gift of Life, Honoree Award from Queens Botanical Garden, North Hempstead Woman’s Role of Honor Award, Sponsor Recognition Award from Selfhelp Community Services, Innovative Leadership Award from LaGuardia Community college, and Honoree Award from the Hofstra University Celebration of Suburban Diversity, Sponsor Recognition Award from Selfhelp’s Chinese Advisory Council, and Honoree of the Year Award from the Chinese-American Planning Council.

Tai is the Founder and President of the New York Chinese Chorus (NYCC) and the Glow Foundation with the mission to promote cultural understanding and celebrates the diversity of our communities. The Foundation sponsors cultural festivals, and music and dance performances in the New York metropolitan areas and Long Island. NYCC dedicates its time to volunteer and perform at many events, and has been invited to various prominent venues: New York City Hall, Asian American Cultural Festival at Farmingdale State University, United Nations, Public Library, Music Festival, LaGuardia Community College Asian Heritage Month Concert; Port Washington Landmark Theater 2014 Winter Concert, Taiwan Hsin Chu Wind Orchestra Concert at Flushing Town Hall; 2014 Silver Prize from the New York Chinese Chorus Music Competition; 2015 Music of Spring Benefit Concert for Alliance for Smile at Merkin Concert Hall Kaufman Music Center; 2016 First Place at Taiwan First Oversea Hakka Folk Songs Competition, 2017 New Asian Chamber Music Society Fundraising Concert, 2018 Music of Spring Benefit Concert for Selfhelp at Lefrak Concert Hall Queens College.
MISTRESS OF CEREMONIES

Kaity Tong, Weekend Anchor PIX11 News

Born in China, Kaity came to the United States with her family at age four. Growing up in Washington DC, Kaity was inspired to become a journalist by her great-uncle Hollington K. Tong, who was an Ambassador to the U.S. from Nationalist China as well as an acclaimed author.

After graduating with honors on an academic scholarship from Bryn Mawr with a BA in English Literature, Kaity was accepted to Stanford University’s Doctoral program in Chinese and Japanese studies. It was while she was at Stanford that Kaity began her broadcasting career, getting what she thought would be a summer job as morning editor and producer for KCBS All-News Radio in San Francisco. The summer job turned into a year-long stint at the top all-news radio station in San Francisco. Kaity managed to complete her Masters in Asian Studies, but was sidetracked by the news business, and never completed her doctoral dissertation.

Currently the weekend anchor for PIX11 News, Kaity began her television career as a reporter for KPIX-TV in San Francisco. Originally hired as a writer for the station, Kaity was asked to do an air-test and was promoted on the spot to a street reporter, where her first on-air story was a report on the “new” carts that carried people around the airport.

Shortly thereafter, Kaity was hired as the co-anchor of the number-one rated 5pm and 10pm newscasts on KCRA-TV, the NBC affiliate in Sacramento, CA. While at KCRA, her community service and involvement in local affairs was acknowledged by the United Way, the California State Legislature and the Sacramento City Council. Two years later, Kaity was recruited by WABC-TV and moved to New York, where she began as a general correspondent and co-anchor of the “Weekend News Edition”, before moving to co-anchor of the 5pm and 11pm newscasts. While at WABC, Kaity worked alongside news veterans Roger Grimsby, Bill Beutel and Tom Snyder.

After ten years at WABC’s “Eyewitness News”, Kaity, who grew to become one of the most respected and popular local news anchors in the New York market, joined WPIX in 1992, where she has co-anchored the Emmy Award-winning “PIX News at Ten” for nearly nineteen years.

Kaity joins Gloria Steinem and Beverly Sills in receiving the “Exceptional Achievement Award” from The Women’s Project and was the first woman honored by Rotary International with its “Paul Harris Fellowship.” She was also honored with a “Star” award by the New York Women’s Agenda.

Kaity was recognized by the Chinese America Arts Council for her excellence in communication. She has received a “Distinguished Woman” award from the Chinese American Planning Council and a Champion of Excellence Award from the Organization of Chinese Americans. A naturalized citizen, Kaity is especially proud to have received the Ellis Island Medal of Honor for her work.

She is actively involved with a number of organizations including OCA, the China Aids Fund, the Center for Hearing & Communication and the NY Rescue Mission.

Ti-Hua Chang, Communications Consultant

MyFoxNY.com - Award-winning journalist Ti-Hua Chang joined WNYW/Fox 5 in 2009 as a general assignment reporter from sister station WWOR/My9, where he served as a general assignment and investigative reporter since 2008. Previously, Chang worked at WCBS-TV where he served in the same capacity. Prior to that, he was a reporter with WNBC. On 9/11, he was the first reporter to inform the public on the number of causalities that day quoting Mayor Giuliani and city officials. Chang joined WNBC from WNYC-TV, where he was host of his own talk show, New York Hotline. Before he began his on-air career, he was an investigative producer at ABC News.

Chang is the recipient of numerous awards. In 1996, he won the prestigious Peabody Award for a series of reports he filed on accused drug-dealing murderers. In 2004, he won a New York Press Club award for his reports on a shooting at City Hall. He received an Edward R. Murrow Award in 2005 for a piece exposing police officers using a helicopter and high tech infra-red equipment to spy on private citizens. Chang is especially proud of discovering the four witnesses to the 1963 murder of Medgar Evers, which led to the reopening of that famous case.

Chang has also won five Emmys; the Philadelphia, Denver and Detroit Press Association awards; and, the Associated Press and United Press International awards. Very active in Asian-American community affairs, Chang was both a national and local New York Board member of the Asian-American Journalists Association. Chang also has been published in a number of magazines, including the Sunday New York Times and The Detroit News.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University’s Graduate School of Journalism, Chang was named by Columbia in 2004 as one of 10 most influential Columbia alumni in New York City, where he resides with his family.

FIFTEEN YEAR HISTORY Of
CHINA AIDS FUND

China AIDS Fund, Inc. (CAF) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization dedicated to combating the spread of HIV/AIDS in China by leveraging the support of the Chinese-American community. Founded in 2003, by Lorance Hockert, Esq., H. E. Ambassador Eric Hotung (何鴻章爵士), Mona So (蘇蒙娜女士) and Charles P. Wang (王碚先生), when the World Health Organization predicted the imminent HIV epidemic to arrive in China and India as these emerging countries opened up their economies to the world, these Chinese American community leaders took advantage of the New China’s political climate to act in hope of preventing a catastrophe. China AIDS Fund harnesses the strength and resources of the Chinese American community to help to prevent the spread of the disease in China, which undoubtedly has worldwide implications.

In our mission, we are a key advocacy and funding group for the prevention and public education in stemming the spread of HIV and chronic viral infections, and for the assistance of the current victims of HIV/AIDS epidemic in China and the Asian Americans in the United States.

In partnerships over the years, we have worked with a number of existing organizations including:
• National Population and Family Planning Commission—China
• World Health Organization (WHO)
• Ministry of Health—China
• Center of Disease—China
• National Center for AIDS/STD Control and Prevention—China
• National AIDS Prevention Committee—China
• Ford Foundation—U.S. Headquarter and China Office
• Business Coalition to Fight HIV/AIDS—U.S.A.
• American Foundation for AIDS Research—U.S.A.
• Chinese American Medical Society—U.S.A.
• Loving Source—China

Henan Children Center

There is an estimate of 400 HIV affected children living in the villages of Henan, China.
This is the epicenter where HIV was spread through sub optimal blood donation practices in the 1990’s. Many thousands of these adults who contracted HIV have died from AIDS. HIV was unfortunately passed on to the newborns from the contaminated blood of the mothers, while other non-infected children are subsisting without their deceased parents from AIDS.

Through the generous donation of the New York community, China Aids Fund (CAF) has established a Children Center in Henan, China in 2008. The center is centrally located and is assessable to all the HIV affected children in a vast rural area. The center is housed with four computer stations with broadband connection, a library, a lounge and an outdoor play area, supervised by a CAF funded full time staff and the Beijing
based HIV/AIDS non-profit organization known as the Loving Source. This mission of the center is to provide social and educational activities for over 400 HIV affected children and orphans. The second center opened in 2010, located in another rural area where social assistance is greatly needed among the HIV orphans. Partnering with Sunrise Library, a Shanghai non-profit organization founded by college students to build libraries in the indigent areas of China, we enhanced the inventories of books and journals in the two existing libraries of our two Children Centers.

International Pen Pal Program
CAPPP.Org

Founded by CAF children and youth members in New York to promote cross-cultural awareness and friendship between HIV affected children/orphans in Henan, China and the New York Chinese American youths in high schools and colleges.

It is an extension of the existing and successful Loving Source Pen Pal program established between the Henan HIV affected children and Beijing University students, who will facilitate the translation of the Chinese and English email exchanges in this international program. The program is carried through the Henan Children Center sponsored by CAF.

In 2008, we decided to take a new step and to develop our own project in China. We are here tonight to celebrate our new successful Henan HIV Children Project that we launched in the winter of 2008-2009. Our program helps directly over 400 HIV affected children in families that have been devastated by the ravages of HIV and AIDS in the Henan province of China due to contamination in the blood donation supply used in the 1990’s.

Our board members, Pen Pal members, with their friends and guests have visited the HIV affected counties in Henan, China in the last three summers.

Our project has reached four milestones:

1. The children Centers are equipped with dedicated staff, library, computer room with broadband access, indoor activity room, and outdoor activity areas. The first center was opened in 2009, and we inaugurated the second center during our visit this summer. They are centrally located in the farmlands of ShangCai in Henan among the epicenters of the affected families.

2. Secondary School subsidies are provided to support qualified children. Tracking of their school performance is mandatory for continuing support.

3. Five College scholarships have just been approved after we interviewed the applicants in person during our trip this summer.
4. The children of the board members have been working hard in the last year and launched the International Pen Pal program between the Henan HIV affected children and our children in New York. They are communicating using emails assisted by dedicated translators.

We have plans to do much more. Our project is unique and goes beyond financial donation. It is about reaching out to someone in great needs on a very personal level. In my view, the Children Pen Pal program is the core of this project. It reaches out to someone on a level that is priceless.
Liang Shan Project

Liangshan Prefecture is the home to more people of Yi ethnicity than any other area in China. It is located in Southwest Mountain Range in China.

The first HIV case in Liangshan Prefecture was reported in 1995, an injecting drug user (IDU). Since then, the local incidence of HIV infection has greatly increased. Until December 2015, the cumulative number of HIV/AIDS cases in this area was reported to be 29,987, and Liangshan Prefecture has the highest HIV prevalence rate in Sichuan Province.

The China Aids Fund is committed to providing community and educational support to AIDS/HIV affected children and orphans of Liangshan Yi Autonomous Prefecture in Sichuan.

Bordering Yunnan Province, the remote village lies on a trafficking route that stretches from the “Golden Triangle” in Southeast Asia into China. China faces an epidemic of drugs from overseas increasingly penetrating the country, with about 90 percent of heroin and methamphetamine tablets seized in 2015 originating in the Golden Triangle, one of the world’s largest illicit heroin production and distribution centers.

LiangShan is the largest traditional settlement of minority people known as “Yi” in China with more than two million Yi inhabitants. It is also one of the most poverty-stricken areas in the country. The economic and social conditions of this region greatly worsened since the 1990’s caused from the influx of drug use and resulting HIV/AIDS epidemic into Liangshan; and present day, it is one of the hardest-hit HIV infected areas in China.

The effects of HIV/AIDS significantly impacted a large portion of Yi population, resulting in disability, imprisonment, abandonment, migration and deaths. This caused the collapse of the family unit with increased numbers of children left orphaned and without parents, families and with no means of social and economic support.

Most of these children must live with the elderly and severely lack daily food and nutrition. There are no assurances that their daily basic physical needs such as food, clothing and shelter are met. They are often on the verge of dropping out of school or never have any opportunity to have schooling at all.

Alarmingly, more and more of these orphan children are left unattended, without any supervision and wandering throughout the city streets.

It is estimated that in 2011, there were approximately 8,000 orphans in the Liangshan region, a society not centered on agriculture and lagging behind in technological advancements. Compounded with an epidemic of drug use and HIV/AIDS, it encapsulates the grave reality of large numbers of AIDs orphans and/or children left without family and financial support.

During recent years, in addition to the government, many domestic and international non-for profit organizations have engaged in providing assistance to local HIV/AIDS orphans and children in need of support in the area.

With years of commitment and dedication to funding, community support and education of Henan AIDS orphans, the China AIDS Fund will utilize its experience and maximize efforts in rescuing these destitute orphans and children in Liangshan Yi Autonomous Prefecture in Sichuan.

According to the field investigation, the average drop rate of primary school students in the Yi people's residence in Liangshan Yi Autonomous Prefecture reached 25%, and the junior high school drop rate reached 11%. For example, in a Autonomous Township with more popular compulsory education, more than 50 junior high school students are lost every year. Among the students who drop out of school, 40% are boys and 60% are girls. The main reasons for dropping out of school are: 50% of migrant workers, 40% of students who are tired of academic performance, and 10% of family difficulties and labor shortage.

The China AIDS Fund's mission is to support the all-level students education in Zhaojue County, one of the most poverty stricken counties in China.

In the past three years, China AIDS Fund worked with the schools in Zhaojue County to aid the students’ boarding and tuition. We support more than 150 students annually and prevent student drop out due to financial reason.

Since 2016, we have organized yearly 25-30 middle school and high school students in the United States of American going to LiangShan for education summer camp to visit the local township and village. We setup one-to-one support program for American family and student to help Liangshan's students' education ( To support one student annually is US$300. Please go to www.chinaaidsfund.org. Your support can change at lease one person's life from 7,525 miles away).

Since 2017, China AIDS Fund have organized and supported the 150 Liangshan's students education trips to the capital of LiangShan (Xichang) and the capital of Sichuan Provence, (Chengdu). Most of them shared the first time travel out of their township, the first time to take train, the first time to stand in the front of sky-high building and the first time to have their real dream.

China AIDS Fund will build multiple pathways to provide food, clothing and necessities for orphans and children of need to insure their survival, healthy development and growth, and the promise of schooling and possibly higher education.

Asian American Youth Program (AAYP)美国亞裔青少年計劃

It was fifteen years ago when Mona So, Founder, pioneered and garnered support from dedicated and prominent professionals in both the medical field and in business to establish the CHINA AIDS FUND (“CAF”), a non-profit organization dedicated to raising funds and mobilizing resources to support effective HIV/AIDS treatment, prevention, and assistance in China.

With a firm belief that the youth are our future and their voice and actions are essential in making this world safer and more sustainable, CAF in 2015 broadened the scope of its mission to promote the advancement of our youth, especially within the Asian American communities and created the Asian American Youth Program (AAYP).

AAYP is a youth community-based program whose mission is to encourage and inspire Asian American youth to vocalize their experiences growing up at the intersection of two cultures. AAYP aims to help the younger generation turn their experiences of diversity and adversity into strengths and to promote self-awareness and become an even larger part of the greater community, thereby inspiring others to reach their full potential as leaders and thinkers. Since its establishment, we have created the Youth Ambassador Scholarship, an annual scholarship competition that allows open to Asian American college and high school students to discuss about their own set of challenges and hardships they faced growing up and how they faced it with a positive demeanor.

In addition, since 2017, we have successfully hosted three interactive Youth Leadership Forums where we convened distinguished guest speakers from various career fields, such as journalism, politics, medicine, and business, to share their unique experiences, professional knowledge, and life lessons to provide empower the Asian American youth with the necessary skills, attitudes and behaviors to successfully navigate our dual cultures, and to encourage them to become more actively involved in their community.

Finally, I want to take this time to express my utmost gratitude to CAF’s founder, Mona, and all the board members of CAF who developed this initiative and have been a part of the process every step of the way through planning, evaluation, and much more. There are no ifs in history and no abilities to change the past. At this critical juncture in time as our children grow up, we must give them the guidance and support they need to affect the course of history and to give back to our communities, as we progress towards a more sustainable, harmonious and equitable future. Thank You.

Sunrise Library Program

Since the founding of the children centers in Shangcai and Shenqiu in Henan, CAF in year 2010 has renovated and expanded two existing libraries located therein. This expansion created a larger space with more furniture and books to benefit the children’s needs.

In 2013, the China AIDS Fund with the collaboration of the Shanghai Sunrise Library established a new library in Zhuhe, Sichuan. Important AIDS prevention literature and health related educational books were made readily available to all. In addition, this new library also housed monthly subscribed children’s magazines, fiction and non-fiction books.

In 2014, the China AIDS Fund financed our additional libraries located in Yonghe, Wongguqiao, Shenzhao and Sanpo in China. Each library contains over 4,000 books and collectively can host 400 students.

Currently, the China AIDS Fund is actively engaged in the support of seven libraries located in various locations in China.
The CAF Junior Board and International Pen Pal Program

At this 12th year cerebration of China AIDS Fund’s fund raising Gala, I would like to take a minute to recap the history. Since the founding of China AIDS Fund (CAF), after evaluated what we can and can’t do for the HIV/AIDS epidemic in China. The board of CAF decided that it would better serve China’s HIV/AIDS related problem with focusing on Children that affected by this devastated illness given the outcomes of this illness and relatively smaller funding we as CAF could raise. Like the famous Chinese say: “Put the best steel on the blaze”.

It is often said, “Children are our future”. With its main purpose to assist the children affected by HIV in China, China AIDS Fund has created a unique body for our children to be involved in.

Initially founded by CAF children and youth members in New York to promote cross-culture awareness and friendships between HIV affected children and orphans in Henan, China and the New York Chinese American youth in high school, The International Pen Pal Program with our pioneers Joanne Kwan, Jonathan Kwan, Chris Lam, Matthew Lam, Michele Ko, Robert Leung, Janus Chan, Winnie Lau, Samuel Lam, Jonathan Lam and Austin Chan led by Selina Chan, Shari Cai, Dr. Wailep Leung, Dr. Wilson Ko and Dr. Tak Kwan went to visit the Children Centers at Henan many times to provide inspiration to the children in Henan and to be inspired. We have seen transformations in our Pen Pals who went on to higher education and have become the leaders of their peers. We have also seen the children that CAF supported grow up and graduate from college through the scholarship CAF provided. And some even went back and service their community where they grew up.

First focused on building children centers in Henan and then the Sunrise Library, the majority of our charity funds were donated to the children in China who need them the most. China AIDS Fund is now expanding its mission to other worse HIV/AIDS epidemic area such as Liang Shan area at center China where more children are devastated by this illness, in hope to help more children who needed help. We also expanded our mission to raise the public awareness of HIV/AIDS, to encourage the prevention of HIV transmission as well as the assistance of the current victims of the HIV/AIDS epidemic in China and the Asian-Americans victims in the United States. Our youth program has evolved into a new entity whose mission will reflect CAF’s new missions expand. The new CAF Junior Board and International Pen Pal Program will continue the communication between the HIV affected children in China and the New York Chinese American youths through email exchanges and visits to the Children Centers on an annual basis in hope to promote cross-culture awareness and friendships between the children of China and of the United States.

On August 11th 2013, the Junior Program had successfully held a fund raising event at Christopher Morley Park where with the great help of our CAF leadership, the current Pen Pals and their families, the past Pen Pals as well as the public, we raised more than ten thousand dollars for CAF. Coming from both high schools and middle schools, the students in the junior program continue to hold multiple organized meetings and events in supporting CAF’s mission and have shown great enthusiasm in this prestigious charity organization. They will continue their efforts to achieve our new mission. They will be the future leadership of our organization.
Henan Children Center

Henan, China is the epicenter of the HIV/AIDS epidemic caused by non-regulated and unhygienic commercial blood donation practices in the early to mid 1990s. Thousands of adults died from HIV/AIDS related deaths resulting from contaminated blood transfusions. Newborns contracted the disease from contaminated blood of their mothers during pregnancy. Other non-infected children were made orphans and destitute without family and means of financial support.

Through the generous donations and contributions of the Chinese American community in the United States and support from other Americans, the China AIDS Fund (CAF) has founded and established two children centers in Shangcai, Shenqiu in the province of Henan since 2008. These centers are centrally located and are easily accessible to many of the HIV/AIDS affected children, providing them social and educational support.

Both of these CAF Henan children centers are equipped with four computer stations with broadband connection, a library, a lounge and an outdoor play area. With the generous support of the China AIDS Fund, the dedicated staff has utilized these resources to aid and assist these children as well as providing a warm and interactive environment promoting socialization and a sense of community with monthly activities and programs. CAF will continue to strive in its mission to provide much needed support to these children of HIV/AIDS disease through social and educational programs.
