ABOUT THE AAYP

美國亞裔青少年計劃

A Message From the AAYP Director,
Professor Yen S. Chou

Fifteen years ago, Mona So, Founder, pioneered and garnered support from dedicated and prominent professionals in both the medical field and business to establish the China AIDs Fund (“CAF”), a non-profit organization dedicated to raising funds and mobilizing resources to support effective HIV/AIDS treatment, prevention, and assistance in China.

With a firm belief that the youth are our future and their voice and actions are essential in making this world safer and more sustainable, CAF in 2015 broadened the scope of its mission to promote the advancement of our youth, especially within the Asian American communities, and created the Asian American Youth Program (AAYP).

AAYP is a youth community-based program whose mission is to encourage and inspire Asian American youth to vocalize their experiences growing up at the intersection of two cultures. AAYP aims to help the younger generation turn their experiences of diversity and adversity into strengths and to promote self-awareness and become an even larger part of the greater community, thereby inspiring others to reach their full potential as leaders and thinkers. Since its establishment, we have created the Youth Ambassador Scholarship, an annual scholarship competition that allows open to Asian American college and high school students to discuss about their own set of challenges and hardships they faced growing up and how they faced it with a positive demeanor.

In addition, since 2017, we have successfully hosted three interactive Youth Leadership Forums where we convened distinguished guest speakers from various career fields, such as journalism, politics, medicine, and business, to share their unique experiences, professional knowledge, and life lessons to provide empower the Asian American youth with the necessary skills, attitudes, and behaviors to successfully navigate our dual cultures and to encourage them to become more actively involved in their community.

Finally, I want to take this time to express my utmost gratitude to CAF's founder, Mona, and all the board members of CAF who developed this initiative and have been a part of the process every step of the way through planning, evaluation, and much more. There are no if's in history and no abilities to change the past. At this critical juncture in time as our children grow up, we must give them the guidance and support they need to affect the course of history and to give back to our communities, as we progress towards a more sustainable, harmonious, and equitable future. Thank You.

Yen S. Chou, Director of AAYP

ABOUT THE HENAN CHILDREN CENTER

Henan, China is the epicenter of the HIV/AIDS epidemic caused by non-regulated and unhygienic commercial blood donation practices in the early to mid 1990s. Thousands of adults died from HIV/AIDS related deaths resulting from contaminated blood transfusions. Newborns contracted the disease from contaminated blood of their mothers during pregnancy. Other non-infected children were made orphans and destitute without family and means of financial support.

ABOUT THE HENAN CHILDREN CENTER CONT.

Through the generous donations and contributions of the Chinese American community in the United States and support from other Americans, the China AIDS Fund (CAF) has founded and established two children centers in Shangcai, Shenqiu in the province of Henan since 2008. These centers are centrally located and are easily accessible to many of the HIV/AIDS affected children, providing them social and educational support.

ABOUT THE HENAN CHILDREN CENTER CONT.

Both of these CAF Henan children centers are equipped with four computer stations with broadband connection, a library, a lounge and an outdoor play area. With the generous support of the China AIDs Fund, the dedicated staff has utilized these resources to aid and assist these children as well as providing a warm and interactive environment promoting socialization and a sense of community with monthly activities and programs. CAF will continue to strive in its mission to provide much needed support to these children of HIV/AIDs disease through social and educational programs.

ABOUT THE LIANG SHAN PROJECT

Liangshan Prefecture, the largest Yi ethnic settlement in China, faces severe HIV/AIDS challenges with a high prevalence rate, affecting over 29,987 individuals by 2015. The China Aids Fund is dedicated to supporting HIV/AIDS affected children and orphans in this region, known for its poverty and drug trafficking issues.

ABOUT THE LIANG SHAN PROJECT CONT.

The impact of HIV/AIDS has led to dire consequences such as disability, increase in the number of orphans, and lack of basic necessities for many children, resulting in a vulnerable population at risk of dropping out of school and facing neglect. China AIDS Fund aims to address these critical needs and provide essential support to ensure the well-being and future opportunities of these vulnerable individuals.

ABOUT THE LIANG SHAN PROJECT CONT.

The Liangshan region had around 8,000 orphans in 2011, exacerbated by drug use and HIV/AIDS. NGOs and the government are aiding these children. The China AIDS Fund focuses on educating and supporting orphans in Liangshan. Dropout rates are high, influenced by migrant work, academic fatigue, and family issues.
